EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The South-West Texas Border Small Business Development Center Network consists of 10 Small Business Development Centers serving 79 counties.

The following report details 9 Key Industry Clusters within South-West Texas economic infrastructure that display a concentration of businesses comparable to or above the national average within each industry. Among the growing industries are Aerospace, Biotechnology, Industrial Manufacturing and Information Technology, which experienced exponential growth in recent years due to the demand for data centers and cybersecurity. These industrial clusters continue to be based on data collected from the U.S Census Bureau, Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Texas Workforce Commission, reports from the Texas Governor's office, along with economic development reports of major cities within the South-West Texas Small Business Development Center Network.

For enhanced analysis, the clusters have been divided into 41 sub-clusters to determine major supply chains within these industries. The report includes Excel files segmented by industry. Each Excel file contains results per worksheet by the NAICS code of the respective clusters. The results are segmented into 'Stage Two' companies (those with 10-99 employees and annual revenues of $500,000 to $50 million) and 'Stage One' companies (those that fall beneath the 'Stage Two' threshold). Detailed financial and operational data on these businesses can be found in the attached Excel files.

Along with a short discussion of each industrial cluster, a breakdown by the 10 Small Business Development Center's service areas has been included to identify industry concentrations in their counties and inform strategic planning and development decisions within the South-West Texas Small Business Development Center Network and at each service center.
